FIRE CHIEF TO RETIRE

MR. H. T. BROOKS HAS FINE RECORD OF SERVICE

Becoming Fireman

GROWTH OF BRIGADE
IN HONG KONG

Mr. Henry Tom Brooks, Superintendent of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade, who has made it his lifework to fight fires for 32 years, fourteen of which have been spent in the Colony, is leaving Hong Kong, on June 12, next year prior to well earned retirement in March, 1938. When Mr. Brooks leaves the Colony next year, he will be 57 years of age.

Together with his wife and daughter, Mr. Brooks will probably settle in the Channel Islands in his retirement. Mr. Ronald Brooks, his son, who is also an officer in the Hong Kong Fire Brigade, is leaving here in January on home leave, and it is his intention to join his family in England.

Mr. H. T. Brooks, Superintendent of the Hong Kong Fire Brigade, who is going on retirement shortly.

Mr. Brooks' 14 years in the Colony has seen the local Fire Brigade grow from an obsolete establishment to one that is equipped with the latest fire-fighting appliances. His record has been one of constant achievement of which he may well be proud.

SERVED IN NAVY

Mr. Brooks joined the Royal Navy in 1894 and served on the training ship "Impregnable," a three-masted square rigged vessel, and the brig "Nautilus." While in the Navy he served in respectively the Channel Fleet, Mediterranean Fleet and the South Atlantic Fleet which included West Africa and the east coast of South America. Leaving the active service of the Navy with the rank of leading seaman, and leading torpedo-man in December 1905, Mr. Brooks joined the London Fire Brigade where he served until he was appointed to Hong Kong as Superintendent, Fire Brigade, in 1922.

In the early days of his service in the London Fire Brigade, the Brigade did not possess any motor fire appliances and the use of appliance bells had not then been adopted. The only bells in use were those on the harness of the horses. Many people still remember the spectacular sight the fire engines at that time presented as they dashed through the streets to the scene of an outbreak, with the crew shouting "Hi, Hi, Hi."

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY

Lack Of Interest Deplored

REVIVAL OF PRACTICE
DANCE URGED

Strong views regarding the status of the St. Andrew's Society among local Scots, were voiced by several members at the annual general meeting of the Society held yesterday in the Board Room of Messrs. Jardine Matheson and Co., Ltd., under the chairmanship of Mr. R. M. McLeay Vice-President.

Many deplored the lack of interest displayed in the Society and it was suggested that the abolition of the practice dance usually held prior to the Annual Ball, was mainly responsible for the existing state of affairs. One member recalled that in former days at the City Hall, work in connection with the decoration of the Hall for the Ball was carried out by members, which kept them "busy for a week." This was now catered for by another organization. Combined with the fact that the practice dance had been abolished.

REACTIONS

Japanese Assurance Gives
Great Relief

London, September 25.

Newspapers here continue to give prominence to the Hong-kew incident and some of the popular journals indulge in sensational banner headlines, but the news that the Japanese marines have returned to barracks and that Sino-Japanese diplomatic negotiations will not be interrupted is greeted with relief in city circles where the impression prevails that the Japanese do not desire to push matters to extremes.

British official circles have issued a statement that Sir Robert Clive, Ambassador in Tokyo, called on Mr. Arita, the Foreign Minister, yesterday to inquire into the situation arising out of the Hongkew murder and was assured that the Japanese Government regards the murder as one of a series of serious incidents, but has no intention of taking hasty action.

Harbour Pipe Line

Restored To Working Order

Repair work on the cross-harbour pipe line has been satisfactorily completed. Though the damage done was more extensive than was at first anticipated, the expert workmanship of the Netherlands Harbour Works Company made light of the job and completed it last Saturday.

The work started on August 31, and was of an intricate nature. The pipe had been damaged by the dragging of an anchor during the recent typhoon and was located some 500 feet off Queen's Pier. The checking of the movements of the ships in the vicinity of the line, narrowed the area of the break to either of two distinct places. This saved an enormous amount of time and labour.

Repaired at a cost approximating $10,000 the line is now in working order. The special craft which were brought from Macao have returned.

BOY KILLED BY LORRY

Accident In Hunghom

MOTHER FAINTS
ON PAVEMENT

At 12.45 p.m. yesterday, a mother and her son were walking happily along Cook Street, Hunghom, hand in hand.

A minute later—and the boy, five years of age, was killed, after being knocked down by a lorry. The mother collapsed on the pavement.

Onlookers state that the lad suddenly ran out from under the pavement into the roadway. The driver of truck No. 3900—a Morris—Commercial—was taken by surprise. He applied his brakes but the vehicle which was heavily laden with tins and barrels of soy, could not pull up in time, and the unfortunate lad was struck on the side of the head. Death was instantaneous.

ARE WE CIVILIZED?

PROVOCATIVE COMMENTS CONCERNING WARFARE

FACING FACTS

BY
"SCRUTATOR"

Every intelligent individual must decide, how he can best serve his nation, and his decision, to be valid, must take into consideration the exigencies of peace and of war. The pacifist and the militarist have each definitely decided, but the bulk of the population of modern states are still comparatively mindless and certainly thoughtless on this great question. Let us consider some of the facts, for militarist jingoism is just as obnoxious to the thinking man as is pacifist sentimentality.

POISON GAS.

It is generally admitted that poison gas constitutes the most important essential in the preparation of modern arms; this combined with aerial strength are the fundamental necessities of a first class military power. This is universally admitted, and in many countries committees have been set up consisting of chemical experts, members of the chemical industries, and representatives of the military authorities. In Europe and the United States the whole chemical industries are directed to military ends, in the latter country an officer of the Reserve is on the staff of each factory, and the Chemist's Society there, has argued publicly that the stopping of experiments with poison gas, and the manufacture of still deadlier poisons for the destruction of human life, would mean the end of chemical and medical research.

In every country where such work is carried on, the reason presented is that of "National defence." A very patriotic idea certainly, but behind it there is one of the most iniquitous organizations which the world has ever known—the international association of armament industries! This association is so powerful that it supplies the materials of war to any and every country which will pay for them. During the Great War the French Comité des Forges, controlled by this association, supplied raw materials to Germany and the French military chiefs received and obeyed the orders of this association and did not attack the Briey Valley factories which were worked by Germany during the War years. It has since been admitted by the steel magnates in Germany that if these factories had been attacked, Germany would have treated for peace as early as 1915.

THE "ARM'S RING."

This cruel and immoral international organization has made great strides since 1914 both in its cruelty and immorality. Three of the largest shipbuilding corporations in America, which are part of this "arm's ring" actually employed in 1927, what they euphemistically called "a publicist," to prevent any effective disarmament resulting from the Naval Conference at Geneva. He attended the Conference officially as an "observer," but was actively engaged in spreading violent anti-British propaganda, in discrediting America's advocates of peace, and in doing his utmost to prevent any limitation of naval disarmament. How far he succeeded history accurately shows. And so to-day we must always remember that the most deadly and terrible instruments of death are in the control of such immoral people—people who do not even pay their warships who do their ugliest work for them, for it was their refusal to pay Mr. Shearer which brought this unbelievable action to the public notice.

More than ten years ago General Sir Reginald Hart took pains to inform the British people that in any future war, large cities and extensive areas with women and children would be wiped out in deaths of unimaginable horror and suffering, and his statement has been confirmed, by the most recent experiments in aerial tactics. In comparatively recent aerial manoeuvres over London in which 250 English aeroplanes took part, it was proved incontrovertibly that in any serious gas attack the greater part of London would be destroyed within a very few hours. Equally significant were the experiments carried out over the French town of Lyons where it was demonstrated that all existing organization for defence against air attack was utterly inadequate.

LEADERS' VIEWS

Lieutenant General Alcock, writing in an official German military magazine says, "The next war will take the form of the mass destruction of civilian population rather than a conflict between armies." Ludendorff, a former Field Marshal of the German army has expressed a similar opinion. We have seen these opinions confirmed to a degree in Italy's conquest of Abyssinia. The terrible danger under which modern civilization has compelled us to live is shown by the following passage in a publication of the Russian Society for Chemical Warfare, "The aim of chemical warfare from the air, will be chiefly, the destruction of the most important inhabited areas behind the lines, such as large cities, railway junctions, factories, etc." In any future war, therefore, enemy states will have to protect not only their armies but also their whole civilian population against air-attack. That such attacks will be made in the majority of instances at night, when darkness will add to panic, is undoubtedly true.

"UTTERLY HOPELESS!"

Perhaps the worst aspect of modern weapons of war is that there are no known means of defence against them. According to the report on Chemical Warfare submitted to the League of Nations, "Experience has shown that no fortifications can resist modern high explosives." The Report of the German Red Cross to the 13th International Red Cross Conference at the Hague in 1928 pointed out that even the methods of defence recommended by experts did not guarantee adequate security against poison gas.

In the face of these statements our plight is utterly hopeless, for the Red Cross tends to regard the civilian population as a disciplined body which most certainly it is not; its essential nature would have to be changed before even the least adequate methods of defence could be applied. Every valuable human being would have to be killed; the ideal of home would have to be broken, marriage and family affection would have to be discarded. A mother sheltering in a cellar must not worry because her husband or children are shut out, they must be kept out to keep the shelter safe, for persons once exposed to poison gas must be excluded from all public and private places of refuge. Even the "Fortunate," to whom escape is possible, must find protective coverings from all known types of gas, and so far there is no such material known to the human brain. The Red Cross have offered a huge money prize to anyone who can succeed in finding a suitable material, along with a prize of ten thousand gold francs for a reagent that can detect the presence of mustard gas. These prizes have never yet been claimed.

What then must happen? Without means of defence there is only one method of salvation according to the militarist point of view. This has been adequately expressed by Divisional Colonel Gertsch of the Swiss Army—"The rapid and complete annihilation of the hostile power is essential for the preservation of the State, the simultaneous destruction of one's own army would, if unavoidable, not be too high a price to pay for such a result."

THE QUESTION

It is plain then, why the question has been asked "Are we civilized?" To maintain itself with any degree of effectiveness, modern civilization will have to deny and denounce the most beautiful and worthy elements which it contains; woman's love, as lover and mother, with the corresponding noble affections, must be regarded as crimes against the state; the whole basis upon which society

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE LESSON SERMON

The subject for the Lesson Sermon in all Christian Science Churches to-morrow, September 27, will be "Reality."

The Golden Text will be "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath entered into the heart of man, the things that God hath prepared for them that love him." (I Corinthians 2: 9)

Amongst others, the following citations from the Bible will be read, "As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the Lord is tried; he is a buckler to all them that trust in him. For who is God save the Lord? and who is a rock save our God? God is my strength and power; and he maketh my way perfect. I will praise thee with my whole heart; before the gods will I sing praise unto thee. I will worship toward thy holy temple, and praise thy name for thy loving kindness and for thy truth: for thou hast magnified thy word above all thy name. Though I walk in the midst of trouble, thou wilt revive me; thou shalt stretch forth thy hand against the wrath of mine enemies, and thy right hand shall save me. The Lord will perfect that which concerneth me; thy mercy O Lord, endureth for ever." (II Samuel 22: 31-33. Psalms 138: 1, 2, 7, 8.)

The Lesson Sermon will also include the following passages from the Christian Science Textbook "Science and Health with key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"Perfection underlies reality. Without perfection, nothing is wholly real. All things will continue to disappear, until perfection appears and reality is reached. In the midst of imperfection, perfection is seen, and acknowledged only by degrees. The ages must slowly work up to perfection. How long it must be before we arrive at the demonstration of scientific being, no man knoweth—not even 'the Son but the Father;' but the false claim of error continues its delusions until the goal of goodness is assiduously earned and won. God is the creator of man and the divine Principle of man remaining perfect, the divine idea or reflection, man, remains perfect. Man is the expression of God's being. If there ever was a moment when man did not express the divine perfection, then there was a moment when man did not express God, and consequently a time when Deity was unexpressed—that is, without entity. If man has lost perfection, then he has lost his perfect Principle, the divine Mind. The conceptions of mortal, erring thought must give way to the ideal of all that is perfect and eternal. Through many generations human beings will be attaining diviner conceptions, and the immortal and perfect model of God's creation will finally be seen as the only true conception of being." CAN YOU DO IT?

Touch Your Nose With Your Tongue

Can you touch your nose with your tongue?

If not, you are drunk, according to a prison doctor at Kuala Lumpur, Federated Malay States.

When a young Hindu named Ratnam was brought before the magistrate there he complained that the doctor had told him to carry out that test as a proof of his sobriety after he had been arrested on a charge of dangerous driving.

Ratnam admitted that he failed to pass the test. He argued, however, that he had since tried several times to touch his nose with his tongue, but could not manage the feat.

A police-constable gave evidence supporting Ratnam's claim. He stated that he had watched him trying to touch his nose with his tongue—but his tongue was obviously not long enough.

The Hindu was discharged with a caution.

"THE GARDEN MURDER CASE"
Edmund Lowe as Philo Vance!
The intriguing image conjured up by that phrase is no more engaging than the reality, which is on view at the Majestic Theatre this week where Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "The Garden Murder Case" opened yesterday.

As the super-scientific detective, Lowe gives a performance that is utterly delightful. He draws his way in and out of a series of thrilling adventures, more than once being in actual danger of sudden death.

But no one of his thrills can be compared to his sudden falling in love! It is the first time in Philo's adventures that he has undergone this experience, and the way he reacts to romantic situations is at once humorous and entertaining.

Virginia Bruce is the smart society girl who gives him palpitation of the heart, and to save her from police suspicion he risks not only his reputation but his life.

Supporting the two principals is a strong cast, each member of which deserves special mention. Outstanding in their roles are Benita Hume, Douglas Walton, Nat Pendleton, Gene Lockhart, H. B. Warner, Kent Smith, Grant Mitchell and Frieda Inescort, while Henry B. Walthall, Jessie Ralph, Charles Trowbridge and Etienne Girardot contribute notably.

"The Garden Murder Case," from the latest of E. S. Van Dine's novels, was produced for M-G-M by Lucien Hubbard and Ned Marlin, and was ably directed by Edwin T. Marin from a screen play by Bertram Milhauser.

The proprietor therefore agreed to accept payment in kind. A seat in a box costs a pig, not-so-good seats can be had for four chickens or 20 eggs, and an ordinary seat for eight eggs or a chicken.

"THE WALKING DEAD"

Since Boris Karloff began specializing in unusual make-ups, he has had nothing but trouble from women acting in his films.

They scream when they see his face in the mirror. They hide in closets while he stumbles in pursuit. A mate was made for him once. Even she, though far from a pretty creature herself, shuddered convulsively when she saw the unattractive face of her lover.

At last this situation has been remedied. Marguerite Churchill neither screamed nor fled from him during the filming of the Warner Bros. picture, "The Walking Dead," which comes to the Queen's Theatre, to-day.

She played the part of a nurse, responsible for his electrocution because she failed to provide his alibi for the murder charge of which he was innocent.

The scientist for whom she worked brings him back to life. Confronted and sympathetic, she does everything possible to help him.

It was a welcome change for Karloff. Happily married and as sedate a gentleman as possible off the screen, he never has enjoyed causing frightened ingenues for the movies. In fact, he says, it bores him.

"The Walking Dead" is a thrilling mystery drama by Ewart Adamson and Joseph Fields. Boris Karloff is starred while others in the cast besides Marguerite Churchill include Ricardo Cortez, Edmund Gwenn, Warren Hull, Barton MacLane and Henry O'Neill.

The picture was directed by Michael Curtiz from the screen play by Adamson, Peter Mine, Robert Andrews and Lillie Hayward.

"DANGEROUS"

Bette Davis is at the Oriental Theatre in her latest Warner Bros. production, "Dangerous," with Franchot Tone playing opposite her and Margaret Lindsay her rival.

Others in the cast include Allison Skipworth, famous on both stage and screen, John Eldredge, Dick Foran, Walter Walker, Richard Carle, Douglas Wood and William Davidson.

DOGGED BY A JINX

Making Of Film
"Lost Horizon"

DEATH OF TWO ACTORS

For the first time in his career Director Frank Capra is being dogged by a jinx. Death seems to have been squatting at his elbow during the production of his latest picture, "Lost Horizon," based on a James Hilton story and starring Ronald Colman.

"Lost Horizon" is largely played against a background of Tibet and, naturally enough, the Grand Lama thereof figures prominently in the story.

According to the plot the Lama is ordained to go on living way beyond the usual span; in fact, until a worthy successor turns up on the lost horizon to take his place.

An intriguing character pondered Frank Capra, as he studied the script before going into production, and looked around the ranks of character players for a man to portray the role.

With little hesitation his choice fell on that fine old screen veteran Henry B. Walthall, whose first taste of fame dates as far back as the time when he played the old Southern colonel in "The Birth of a Nation." Remember?

The first few days' shooting of "Lost Horizon" sequences in which Walthall appeared amply demonstrated that Capra's choice was characterized by his uncanny knack of choosing exactly the right person for every role in every picture.

Brisk progress was made. Capra knew what he wanted from Henry B. Walthall, and the veteran reported every day word, perfect—and delighted to have captured such an important part in the twilight of his career.

Then the squatting figure of death decided to take a hand in the direction of "Lost Horizon" and four days later production was suspended so that Capra and Co. could attend Walthall's funeral. The blow was sudden, Walthall was well enough, and then...

Walthall's death meant that all the good progress registered by the "Lost Horizon" production unit was nullified.

Frank Capra anxiously looked

GRACE MOORE'S LATEST HIT

"The King Steps Out"

Those of us who are tired of seeing the story of a young struggling singer eventually achieve fame and fortune by a culminating success at the Metropolitan—the Mecca of all singers in America as Convent Gardens is in England—must have been delightfully surprised, as I was, with Grace Moore's latest film "The King Steps Out," showing at the King's and Alhambra Theatres. The picture is well worth seeing.

Hollywood for once has not rehearsed a thread-bare theme—it has launched on something totally different, so far as depicting established performers at the 'Met' are concerned. "The King Steps Out" is nothing but a charming tale of a royal romance in Imperial Austria told in a charming manner.

Franchot Tone, who wears the uniform of an Austrian Emperor with considerable ease and grace, supplies all the romance that is necessary and the teaming of Miss Moore with him, can definitely be stated to be a success.

Grace Moore gives a polished performance singing as she does several pieces to the accompaniment of Fritz Kreisler's music both new and mellow. The script has fortunately been written to give her ample opportunity for shedding musical sunshine. I thought this one of Grace's finest performances—"Redincom."

round for a successor, and prepared to begin all over again.

The best suggestion came from Ronald Colman, who told Capra that an old actor friend of his, Albert E. Anson, badly in need of work because Hollywood had forgotten him, could probably make a good job of the character of the Grand Lama of Tibet.

Anson was pathetically grateful for the chance of achieving a come-back out of obscurity. Capra got going again on the Lama sequences, and was some half-way through when Anson died.

Little wonder that Hollywood thinks a jinx is haunting "Lost Horizon." Who among the old feature players has the courage to follow Walthall and Anson in the role of the Grand Lama?

MAX MALINI

This famous tragedian will commence his Hong Kong season on Wednesday at 9 p.m. in the Restaurant and Ball Room of the Gloucester Hotel. Malini will give another performance on Thursday evening.

PURSE SNATCHED GIRL WHO STOLE ON TRAMCAR FROM FATHER

Thief Throws Article When Caught

SMART SENTENCE

Six months' hard labour was the sentence passed on Chan Chung by Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Police Court yesterday when the man was charged with larceny from the person of Shu Pui Chun, 20, student, of a wallet containing $13.

No less than twelve previous convictions were registered on the defendant's criminal record, eight of which were for similar offences.

Det. Sgt. C. Downman stated that complainant and defendant were riding third class on a tram. Complainant, who was sitting next to the defendant, felt a tug at his hip pocket. He thought nothing of it. They both descended at Tin Lok Lane, where complainant discovered his loss. He exclaimed, "I've lost my purse."

Complainant's suspicions were aroused when the defendant immediately walked towards the first class compartment and boarded the tram again.

The tram was already in motion but the complainant ran after it shouting "snatcher." An employee of the Tramway Company was on the upper deck and went down to the lower deck. The defendant was coming up the stairway and witness saw him putting the wallet into his pocket.

Witness returned to the defendant and questioned him. Defendant threw the wallet out of the tram.

ANOTHER CASE

Chinese money, totalling $158.40 was snatched out of the hand of Mak Ying, amah, while she was walking in Connaught Road on Thursday. Chan Ying, 35, unemployed, was arrested and was brought before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday.

Det. Sgt. T. Cashman stated that the money was carried in the woman's left hand and was wrapped in a handkerchief. The defendant snatched the handkerchief and ran away. He was pursued and arrested.

Defendant was sentenced to six months' hard labour.

Doctor Finds Culprit Getting Inside

Dr. G. Ingram Shaw, residing at No. 465, the Peak, was the complainant at the Central Police Court yesterday, when Fan King Lam, 22, unemployed, was charged with the attempted larceny of certain articles from car No. 3409, which was parked at the Star Ferry on Thursday. Defendant was sentenced to three months' hard labour by Mr. S. F. Balfour.

It was stated by the Police that at 10.30 p.m. Dr. Shaw returned from Kowloon and on going to his car found the defendant sitting inside looking through some bags in the back. Defendant jumped out by the other door and was chased. He was caught in Chater Road.

Wanted To Purchase Sewing Machine

RECEIVER DISCHARGED WITH WARNING

When Chung Min Hay, 18, spinster, of 48, Yen Chau Street, ground floor, and Tam Kan, 22, unemployed, of 140, Nan Chang Street, first floor, came before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen, at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday, the former was bound over in a bond for $50, and the latter was discharged.

On September 22, Chung Min Hay stole $106.40 from her father, Chung Mun, a shop master, and gave the money to Tam Kan for safe-keeping.

Tam met her as he was going to the Sham Shui Po Ferry to travel to Hong Kong. At the junction of Yen Chau Street and Lai Chi Kok Road, she gave him a package, with some money in it, and he agreed to keep it for her. Upon his return from Hong Kong he went straight to his flat and looked into the package, and found a large sum of money in it. He immediately hid the money in a drawer, as he did not know that it was stolen.

Chung Mun, the father of defendant, said that on September 22 to 10 a.m. he deposited the sum of money under a blanket in his cubicle.

At 6 p.m. the following day he had occasion to use some of that money, but when he went to get it, he found it was missing. His wife denied all knowledge of the money.

DAUGHTER'S DENIAL

His daughter, returned about 11 p.m., but she also denied knowing about the money.

He was suspicious, however, as she had been staying out late the past few evenings, and took her to the police station, where she confessed to the theft.

The money was recovered at the domicile of Tam Kan, who had hidden it behind a drawer.

At the station Tam admitted receiving the money.

Mr. Macfadyen: Why did you keep the money behind the drawer?

—Because I had known defendant for a long time, and that seemed to be the safest place. She said that she wanted to buy a sewing machine.

Mr. Macfadyen: That is a prima facie reasonable explanation.

LENIENT FATHER

As her father only wanted his daughter to be cautioned, Mr. Macfadyen discharged Tam Kan and warned him to be particularly careful in future in looking after other people's money. His Worship bound over the girl in $50 for one year with her father as surety.

His Worship also cautioned her that if there was any complaint within the next year, she would suffer the most severe consequences.

Before leaving the Court, defendant asked to be allowed to use the sewing machine in her household, which had been refused by her father, but Mr. Macfadyen told her that it was a matter between her father and herself.

THEFT OF TELEPHOTO LENSES

Thief Caught After City Chase

Two telephoto lenses, the property of Messrs. Schmidt and Company, were stolen on Thursday, shortly afterwards.

Mr. E. A. Genrich returned from a short absence and accosted a Chinese, To Kam Ning, leaving the office. Suspicious of his movements, Mr. Genrich questioned To, who ran away. He was caught after a chase and the lenses were found on his person.

To Kam Ning was brought before Mr. S. F. Balfour at the Central Police Court yesterday and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment.

Det. Sgt. D. Mann stated that the lenses were valued at $200 each.

STRUCK CONSTABLE

Yu King, 27, coolie, was fined $10 or one month for assaulting P. C. D. 224, Chan Kan Cho, at the corner of Nathan Road and Austin Road. Defendant stated that the constable struck at him first, but Mr. E. Himsforth, at the Kowloon Magistracy, said that he could not believe him.

3,000 HEROIN PILLS

Found Tied Round Woman's Waist

Chan Luk, 58, a widow of no fixed abode, was charged before Mr. Q. A. A. Macfadyen at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday with the possession of 3,000 heroin pills in Battery Street on September 17.

Sergt. MacDonald said that the pills were wrapped around her waist. Defendant stated that she did not know how many pills there were. His Worship imposed a fine of $1,000 with the alternative of four months' hard labour.

BENEVOLENT SOCIETY

Jumble Sale Success

NEARLY $140 RAISED

Approximately $140 was raised towards the funds of the Hong Kong Benevolent Society at a Jumble Sale, organized by the Society which was held at 11 Ice House Street yesterday afternoon.

Instead of commencing at 2.30, the sale was opened at 2.00 p.m., owing to the large crowd outside the doors waiting to enter. As soon as the doors were opened people thronged in and brought practically everything in a very short while. Prices paid ranged from 10 cents to one dollar except for a lovely dress for which 1.50 was paid. There were many old dresses, shoes, rattan bags, men's evening wear, neck ties, etc.

The Benevolent Society was formed many years ago but was seldom given much financial support from the public.

The proceeds from the sale are for general funds, which will be utilised for paying the passages of destitute people, the purchase of clothing for the poor and milk for babies in hospitals.

The old sales room has been furnished with a telephone and a fan kindly supplied by The Hong Kong Tramway Company.

The following are the Society officials:—President, Mrs. F. C. Hall; Hon. Sec. Mrs. E. Summers; Hon. Treasurer, Mrs. V. Bentley.

DEATH OF FORMER HARBOUR MASTER

Cdr. Basil Taylour

Commander Basil Reginald Hamilton Taylour, former Harbour Master of Hong Kong, who left here on retirement in 1920, passed away in England, on September 3.

The deceased, who was born in 1855, came to the Colony in 1899 on appointment as Assistant Harbour Master. He acted as Harbour Master on several occasions with a seat on the Legislative Council, and in 1904 was appointed Acting Assistant Superintendent of Police, in addition to his other duties. In 1907, he was appointed Harbour Master, and during 1914 and 1915 was Marshal of the Supreme Court, in Prize. In 1915 he was seconded for military service, returning to Hong Kong in 1919.

AUSTRALIAN GIN ON MARKET

'Crystal Court' Finding Favour

Quite recently whisky brewed and bottled in Australia was introduced to the local market with encouraging success. Now another product from "down under" is being acclaimed with equal enthusiasm. It is "Crystal Court" Dry Gin, manufactured by the United Distillers Coy. Ltd., Australia.

STORY OF GIN

The story of gin and its origin makes interesting reading:

Gin was discovered in Holland by a man named Sylvius, who born in 1814. He was a learned man, and for many years was professor of medicines at Leyden. It was during his occupancy of this office that he discovered how to make the beverage called "geneva," but which is better known in the English tongue as gin. The name geneva is not taken from the well-known town in Switzerland, but from the French "genève," meaning juniper, the plant from which the berries are derived that impart to gin its flavour.

Professor Sylvius's idea of the liquor was more as a medicine than a beverage, and chemists were the first to dispense it, but the people soon felt that "if a little was good, more was better," and it quickly became a most popular beverage.

Of all potable spirits, gin is, when properly made, the purest—that is to say, the most highly rectified, and the one which contains by far the smallest quantity of impurities and by-products of the grain it is distilled from.

LATEST EQUIPMENT

The machinery employed at the Federal Distilleries includes the very latest equipment for rectification procurable in the world. In the first the fermented grain wash is distilled; in the second, it is purified, and then rectified to a very high degree in the third.

A vast amount of care is taken in the various processes, particularly in the manner in which the wash is prepared and in fermentation. The manufacturers follow the best practice—to use no grain but the most perfect kind.

To give an idea of the infinite care which is bestowed upon the making of Crystal Court gin, it need only be stated that the distillers waste 20 per cent. of the total input in order to gain absolute purity for 80 per cent. of the spirit turned out.

Gin is unlike whisky in the fact that it does not have to be matured for a large number of years in order to attain perfection. A few months is about the time required after that the spirit might be improved. This fact should remove any doubt as to whether Crystal Court can be both a new and perfect brand of gin.

The sole authorised agent for Hong Kong and China is Caleb Cheong & Co., Hong Kong Hotel Room No. 405. The distributing agent is Tai Wo Compradore, No. 11 Hankow Road, Kowloon.

Police, in addition to his other duties. In 1907, he was appointed Harbour Master, and during 1914 and 1915 was Marshal of the Supreme Court, in Prize. In 1915 he was seconded for military service, returning to Hong Kong in 1919.

IRUN ABLAZE

Devastating Conflagration

FATE OF HOSTAGES

Hendaye, Sept. 4.
As night falls the centre of the sky towards Spain is red with flames. Irun is burning.

The local Government Militia, except for about 100 Anarchists, were still fighting houses in the town, and 60 who were in Fuenterrabia have fled to France. What remains of the Bilbao contingent of dynamiters is struggling back to San Sebastian by the coast. Señor Larrañaga, who came from San Sebastian to Irun this morning to organize the last resistance, returned this evening in a Government gunboat to his town by sea. It is loaded to the waterline with guns, and men and still fire the Republican flag. The whole of this corner of Guipuzcoa has been abandoned by the Government troops, and the insurgents, with 7000 men, tanks and armoured cars, are on all the roads to Irun. They cannot enter for the flames.

FINAL ADVANCE

The insurgents' final advance to the Basque coast began just after midnight. Their armoured cars withdrew from the Benobia road last night, the encirclement of the town by infantry being considered more profitable. The infantry re-occupied San Marcial about midnight, and under cover of thick darkness surrounded Behobia. Only 20 of the Militia had remained in the village; 200 left in the dark hours, handing in their rifles to the French guard at the French end of the bridge.

At 2 o'clock a devastating fire was poured into the village from all sides. The armoured train moved back to Irun. The machine-guns at the bridgehead stood their ground until the last round. At 4 o'clock 19 fled to France, leaving one dead. The Tercio occupied Behobia with their armoured cars and hoisted the Monarchist flag at the bridge. Since then, intercourse with France has been forbidden; neither refugees of the Right nor the farmers of Behobia are admitted back to Spain.

Between 4 and dawn machine-gun posts on the way Irun were surrounded and their occupants killed. One or two who hastily dug trenches on the Irun road were created; so was the debris of the match factory which barred the road to armoured cars. A chance shot set the dynamite workshop near Irun station ablaze with a mighty explosion.

FAILURE OF LEADERS

Panic must have been struck in the Government leaders at Irun by this sound and by the capture of Behobia and the return of the armoured train. Their followers say that the members of the committee which ruled Irun were the first to leave—at 4 in the morning. Only the Anarchist leaders remain. A traditional Spanish fraction of the Left showed traditional Spanish stubbornness. Throughout the day the Militia, 4000 strong by now, have crept and crawled or driven their party motor-cars over the series of roadways and railways to the international bridge at Hendaye. They say they had no ammunition left and they are bitter about their leadership. Hendaye is packed. Those who wish to continue fighting, now about 1000, are grouped at the station in a special train which will take them to Barcelona. Those who have had enough are sent by car and lorry to camps at Pau, Bordeaux, Angoulême, and Poitiers. They drive through the town with clenched fists, flourishing red ribbons, perched on enormous bundles.

IMPARTIAL FISHERMEN

A company of French troops have relieved the police at the international bridge. Throughout the morning the evacuation of a different class went on from Fuenterrabia. Many Spanish aristocrats and holiday-makers, caught and imprisoned there after the suppression of the military uprising at San Sebastian were escaping in fishing boats. Though Señor Larrañaga threatened with his revolver the Government Militia here who would fight no more, he could not stop them from embarking also. The fishermen of Fuenterrabia, a generous race, manned their smacks and rowing boats free of charge to ferry the mixed refugees of both parties to France. In Hendaye can be seen, sitting on trunks in rough clothes, deless, hatless, and unwashed, anybody from an unshaven Spanish marquis downwards. A few days of suffering seems to have blurred many of the outer distinctions of class.

And Guadalupe? What of the 280 hostages held there in strict imprisonment? It is impossible to report anything there of them, except that none has yet been seen in France. Men of the Right who were in Fuenterrabia this morning say that the prison doors were opened at dawn and all the men released. Others, who were there in the afternoon, report that there were shootings at 1.30, when fusillades were heard to echo across the Eizassoa mountains. A conversation between militiamen who linger, clad in blue overalls, on the French side of the international bridge, was heard to-day. Said one man: "And the prisoners, they asked to be shot rather than be kept shut up there and perhaps burned. But the guards refused to shoot them." Said another: "They went up in lorries and shot them all."

ANARCHY LET LOOSE

Meanwhile the Anarchists, under the black-red flags, had taken charge of the whole of Irun, Fuenterrabia, and the Guadalupe promontory. First they destroyed two pieces of artillery for which they could find no more ammunition, and then fired a few shells through the rest at random. They burned most of the cars in the garages and with the petrol that was left they lit houses at all the entrances to Irun. They lit the Casino, the Paris Hotel, the whole station, all the Paseo de Colon, and many other streets in the centre of the town. They poured petrol over this roof and that. About 40 cars were brought over safe and sound from the Customs, but shots were sent through the petrol tanks of those in the streets and they burst into flames. The long red tongues of flame flicker now all the way from the bridge to Irun where a huge, angry furnace swallows them up and occupies most of the sky at night.

The Government of San Sebastian claim some local successes on the Lasarte front.

THE BURNING TOWN.—A graphic photograph showing the burning of Irun from a distance. According to reports Anarchists set fire to the Casino, the Paris Hotel, the station, and many streets in the centre of the town. In the foreground a number of the Government Militia made their escape.

OLD RESIDENT'S DEATH

Chinese Passes At Age Of 85

MR. WONG PING SUN

One of the oldest Chinese residents of the Colony passed away yesterday at his residence, No. 341, Nathan Road, in the person of Mr. Wong Ping Sun, father of Mr. Wong Fu Nam, Assistant Managing Director of the China Motor Bus Company Ltd.

Deceased, who was 85 years of age, was formerly a member of the Kwong Wah Hospital Board of Directors and Vice-Chairman of the Hongkong Dispensary. He was the promoter of the Sze Yip Steamship Company some thirty years ago.

Deceased is survived by a widow, three sons, seven daughters and eight grand-children. His son-in-law is Mr. Ngan Shing Kwan, Managing Director of the China Motor Bus Co.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon at the Roman Catholic Cemetery. On the way to Happy Valley the hearse was preceded by the band of the Punjab Regiment.

MOTOR ACCIDENT

A Chinese girl twelve years old was knocked down at the corner of Bay Street and Nathan Road, Kowloon, yesterday evening at 10 p.m.

She was severely injured, and rushed immediately to the Kowloon Hospital, where little hope was held for her recovery.

DISEASE—
THE COMMON ENEMY

Who can tell how far the destiny of nations has been changed by some chance epidemic?

Some think that when, in the Old Testament, "the angel of the Lord went out and smote in the camp of the Assyrians" it was the bubonic plague which saved Jerusalem from Sennacherib, and that the mice which ate the bowstrings of his army were in fact the rats which carried the infection.

The plague at Athens, so vividly described by Thucydides, may have brought about the defeat of the Athenians in the Peloponnesian War with the consequent decay of Greek civilisation. The plague which ravaged the Roman Legions in the East during the peaceful rule of the Emperor Marcus Aurelius may have first breached the wall in the Roman Empire and let in the barbarian hordes a few years later. Certainly the bubonic plague which spread over the whole Roman world in the sixth century A.D. hastened the rot of the Dark Ages. In the fourteenth century the "Great Pestilence," or Black Death, killed one-third of the population of England, nearly a quarter of the whole population of Europe, and helped to bring about a social revolution by striking at the poor in their crowded hovels and leaving the rich in their luxury of sanitation.

In 1664 the bubonic plague came back to London as the Great Plague, and in one year alone, according to Defoe's figure, took 68,596 people from that city. Yet these are only the dramatic strokes of disease.

It is difficult even to speculate on the effects of yellow fever in West Africa, of malaria in Ceylon, or of all the countless epidemics that have spread in China for hundreds of years.

We know some of the effects plague may have on politics; what of the effects of politics on disease? In "The Shape of Things to Come" Mr. H. G. Wells has imagined a new pestilence—the Wandering Sickness—following on the breakdown of civilisation through continued war.

To-day, living together in great cities, suffering from too little exercise, without sun and open air, eating unhealthy food, we are only saved from terrible epidemics by the most rigid sanitary precautions. When war or revolution occurs these precautions lapse; water is infected, lice, rats, mosquitoes, and flies multiply, and disease is let loose upon a population ill-fitted to resist it.

It has been estimated that after the Russian Revolution there were twenty-five million cases of typhus and three million deaths. At any moment typhus may also break out in Spain and Following an attempted robbery with violence in the Bay View district yesterday, a Chinese was arrested.

The victim of the affair, an Indian married woman, name Kartar Kaur, reported to the police that at 12.40 p.m. she was on the roof of her house at No. 15 Ngan Mok Street, making chippatee when two men came up from behind and seized her while a third man tied a piece of rope round her neck. One of the assailants then put his hand over her mouth but she managed to beat him.

The robbers tried to take her bangles from her wrist but could not pull them over her hand.

The woman raised the alarm and another Indian woman ran on to the roof.

The assailants took to their heels and ran down the stairway of the end house, No. 25, into the street where an Indian, named Narangin Singh gave chase and arrested one of the men.

The other two ran into Yacht Street and then into Electric Road where they made good their escape.

The arrested man, whose name was given by the police as Shum Shu, 30, unemployed, has been charged with assault with intent to rob and will appear before the Magistrate at the General Police Court this morning.

HELENA MAY
CONCERTIn Aid Of Deserving Cause

In response to a deserving cause the Helena May Institute sponsored a concert last night in aid of the Christ Church, Kowloon Tong. The artists, Prue Lewis, (violin), Maurice Barton (piano) and Edgar Warner, played before His Excellency the Governor, Sir Andrew Caldecott and Lady Caldecott, in a programme of music of unsurpassing beauty.

Songs from Handel and Bach sung by Edgar Warner, two sonatas for violin and piano played by Prue Lewis and Maurice Barton, and a sonata played by Prue Lewis comprised the programme.

The pleasant even tenor of Edgar Warner lent great appeal to the splendid compositions. Mr. Warner adds no little attraction to the future concerts of this nature in aid of the Kowloon Tong Church.

Miss Lewis and Maurice Barton, are well-known, and played with their usual success.

The next of these concerts will be held on Friday, October 9, at which Mrs. Neil Matheson will sing two groups of songs.

might even force peace upon the combatants.

The last war did not cause any widespread epidemic, unless one counts the great influenza epidemics of 1918 and 1919, but typhus broke out in many of the actual fighting areas where men were crowded together. And just as the invention of ships spread disease over the world, bringing the plague from the East to the West and taking syphilis from Europe to America, so the invention of aeroplanes has brought new risks. In this way an infected mosquito may some day take yellow fever, which is endemic in Central Africa, to India and the East.

In the face of the great common enemy of disease all races are as one race—the human race—and all wars are civil wars.

Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese Ambassador, has been instructed to continue his negotiations with the Chinese Foreign Minister, General Chang Chun, for fundamental adjustments in Sino-Japanese relations despite the Hongkew outrage, and also press for the early return of General Chiang Kai-shek from Canton for the purpose of having a direct talk with Chinese leaders.

The decision to adhere to a policy of negotiation has thrown cold water on those quarters which were clamouring for drastic action against China by Japan's armed forces.

LANDING PARTIES

It seems certain that the navy intends to increase still further the strength of the landing parties in China and arrogate the right to take severe local action in the event of future anti-Japanese incidents.

At present, however, reinforcements of Japanese warships in China waters is regarded as unlikely, while no military action is apparently contemplated.

MARINES IN CONTROL

Shanghai, Sept. 25. The Japanese marines late on Wednesday night remained in possession of Hongkew and practically usurped authority in the International Settlement. Police and marines also occupy a large part of Chapel, which is in Chinese territory, including a section to the west of the Shanghai-Woosung Railway.

All the Japanese schools are being used as barracks for the 500 extra marines who arrived yesterday morning. These were already on their way, following the incident at Hankow, in which a Japanese policeman was killed. All Japanese public events have been cancelled.

A meeting of the Japanese trade unions here passed a resolution demanding the immediate despatch of warships and troops, "sufficient to assure the full protection of Japanese life and property."

MARINES WITHDRAWN

Shanghai, Sept. 25. Japanese marine guards and petrols were withdrawn this morning to the barracks from Hongkew and Chapel except in the immediate vicinity of the crime, the Japanese Embassy and certain other points.

The Settlement and Chinese Police have now resumed control of the respective areas with reinforced numbers.

CHINESE ORDER

Shanghai, Sept. 25. The Chinese authorities have issued official instructions to the Bureau of Public Safety to give special protection to foreigners residing in the Chinese controlled areas.

Mr. Peter H. Sin held a watching brief for the deceased's family.

The jury, empanelled were Messrs. Wall, Mohamed Meral (foreman), Walter Manelshagen and J. H. Maycock.

Mr. C. S. Robinson, one of the party on the fatal night gave evidence which was a reiteration of the story as told by other members of the party.

Mr. Stanley Chan, the remaining member of the party was asked to give evidence as to the Swatow and efforts on the part of the police to get into touch had failed. His statement was read to the jury, who, after an interval, returned a verdict "Death by Misadventure."

CLOSE WATCH

Mr. Arlita added that the discussions in Nanking between Mr. Kawagoe and General Chang Chun, which were initiated for the purpose of ensuring action to diminish the anti-Japanese feeling recently manifested in a series of incidents were continuing.

Information from British naval and military attaches in Tokyo after conversations with the Japanese naval and military attaches indicates that both the latter desire to avoid any course likely to lead to hostilities.

DELICATE SITUATION

The British authorities are very closely watching the Shanghai situation which it is felt increases the anxiety in an already delicate position.

British circles have no information regarding the Japanese report that Sir Robert Clive informed Mr. Arlita that Britain has no intention of intervening in Sino-Japanese relations, but it is pointed out that this does not mean the report is denied but merely unconfirmed.

Reuter learns that German military investigators recently in the Far East report that the Russian military position in East Siberia appears to be well high impregnable.

PRESS COMMENT

London, Sept. 25.

"Unfortunately though the incidents have been," says the Manchester Guardian, "it is clear that they are unofficial and have no connection with each other except that all were the result of spontaneous outbursts of anti-Japanese feeling among the Chinese people."

"It should also be noticed that although the Chinese Government failed to prevent the incidents, it took prompt and energetic measures in every case to put down disorder and punish the culprits."

After reviewing the inflammation of anti-Japanese feeling since the commencement of Japanese aggression in North China last October, the Manchester Guardian expresses the opinion that the Japanese fear they are no longer able to continue expansion merely by threatening Nanking for the simple reason that Nanking dare no longer make concessions to threats, but there is grave risk if the Chinese authorities are unable to bow the knee to Japan, and the Japanese may be tempted to repeat the process of 1932.

ANNEXATION AIDS

In Shanghai the Japanese have long wanted either to annex the Concession or a Chinese part of the city or seize for themselves Hongkew where they have already organised the shadow of a corporation within the confines of the Municipal Council.

Worse still, the army may take up again the favourite project of the five separate Northern provinces. General Dohara's still-born child, fearing that General Chiang Kai-shek, having gained control of the long intransigent South-west, will now try to regain the autonomous North.

Even on the ground of the plainest expediency, the Japanese should consider whether it is possible to wage war in China, which is now patriotic unified, and well armed, or if it would be quite the simple exercise for the troops which it was formerly believed to be.

ST. ANDREW'S

both factors contributed in no small manner to the declining interest in the Society.

It was agreed that the Annual Ball be held on Friday, November 27.

Supporting Mr. McLay were the following: Messrs. N. M. Currie, D. Drummond, B. Wylie (members of the Committee) Messrs. A. Stevenson, K. F. Greig, A. S. MacKichan and Dr. G. D. R. Black (Past Presidents) and Mr. D. S. Robb (Joint Hon. Secretary and Treasurer).

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

The Chairman stated that he had received apologies for unavoidable absence from three members, Sir Atholl MacGregor, Mr. T. Addis Martin and Mr. A. Ritchie. Continuing Mr. McLay said:

"Our rank of Past Presidents have been thinned by death and to the names of those published in the report has to be added Messrs. C. E. Anton and R. M. Dyer. Messrs. J. J. Bell, Irving, Bonnar, Anton and Dyer occupied the post of Chairman and did much excellent work on behalf of the Society. To the present generation Messrs. Bonnar and Dyer are perhaps best known, both were men of sterling character and furthered the interests of the Society most enthusiastically."

A total membership of 497, whilst satisfactory hardly represents the entire Scotch Colony in Hong Kong and I think it is up to all members of the Society to induce all Scotchmen to join, particularly the younger members of our Colony, for it is only through them can we hope to maintain the tradition of the oldest Society in the Colony and maintain the very creditable record of assistance rendered to our fellow countrymen.

Regarding charitable expenditure $93.10 is not excessive having regard to the very many calls made upon us in the course of the year and I would like to impress upon all members that the real object of our association is to render aid in times of stress and that we do not exist solely for arranging a celebration of our national festival. Our charitable activities are limited by the volume of membership subscriptions received and to enable us to carry on our good work a large membership must be secured and equally important, is the prompt payment of annual subscriptions, for by paying promptly the labours of our Hon. Treasurers are lightened and we have cash in hand to deal with emergencies.

For the first time in many years one of the gentler sex has been awarded the J. R. M. Smith Scholarship and it is to be hoped the same keenness will continue. This is quite a nice little plum and we have to thank the Director of Education for the time he expended in reviewing the papers submitted.

ANNUAL BALL

"When your committee decided to cut out the two evenings' extra entertainment to the Colony doubtless were expressed as to what effect this would have upon the success of the Annual Ball but these fears were quite unfounded and although the number of subscribers and guests were somewhat smaller than in previous years, the financial result was eminently satisfactory as you will see from the credit balance standing in this fund. I have always looked upon this function as a means of augmenting our funds and I hope this year's celebration—details regarding which will be discussed later—will be equally successful and enable us to make a substantial addition to our reserve funds."

SCOTTISH COMPANY

Recently the Brigadier appealed to all young men of military age to join the Volunteers and I would like to urge upon the younger members of the Society the necessity of supporting the "Scottish." As an old Volunteer I can assure you that the duties you are called upon to do are not too strenuous and you get a lot of fun out of them. I hope the Company will soon be at full strength and that all intending recruits will select the "Scottish" in preference to other units, particularly as the very attractive uniform worn is supplied free of cost.

Before the adoption of the report and statement of accounts was placed to the meeting, the Chairman made an appeal for further support at practices of the Reel Club.

BRITAIN'S EUROPEAN POLICY OUTLINED

MR. EDEN'S SPEECH AT LEAGUE ASSEMBLY

Weakening Confidence Among Nations

EXPENDITURE ON ARMAMENTS

Geneva, September 25.

"Britain did not want to see the nations divided into two camps whose alignment was determined by their form of Government," declared Mr. Anthony Eden, speaking at the League of Nations Assembly on Britain's European policy.

The seriousness of the times demanded frank speech and he must apologise for using less guarded language than usual. Nationalism was strong and rival forms of Government hurled defiance at each other. There was a general weakening of confidence throughout the world.

Each nation was expending an ever-increasing proportion of its national wealth upon armaments to the detriment of its economy. Restrictions were imposed and various frontiers were difficult to pass. It was not a nice picture, but it was not a hopeless one. It was still possible for the nations to work together. They must practice toleration and restraint.

AIM OF DEMOCRACY

Mr. Eden continued that they did not increase our respect for our own form of government by pouring scorn upon those of other countries. Britain would not allow anyone to wrest our democracy from us.

Democracy was the epitome of man's endeavours to find freedom, individuality and peace. That did not prevent them from realising that other people felt just the same about their own form of government. We accept this fully and completely.

CONFIDENCE IN FUTURE

The first rule of ordered life between nations was faith in one's own national tenets and tolerance of those of others. The indispensable element in economic recovery was confidence in the future.

"We must respect each other's national system. We also need an international order which shall finally supersede arbitrariness of conflict between states," he declared.

Mr. Eden said that civilisation had to find a means of putting this promise into practice or else must perish. The policy of the British Government was to put its faith in the League of Nations.

FUTURE OF LEAGUE

There were two essential elements in considering the future of the League. Firstly, the League machinery, and secondly, will it work that machine.

The second was infinitely more important than the first, but the machinery could also be improved.

Referring to the recent failure of collective security, Mr. Eden said the underlying motive was the lack of universality and failure to take more energetic intervention in the early stages. Only by striving for universality could they give the League full effect and arrest the menace to peace.

Dealing with measures to improve the League Covenant, he said that the British Government believed it imperative that, in the early stages of a dispute, members of the Council should show clearly how far they were prepared to intervene in the cause of peace.

Mr. Eden asserted that the British Government was of the opinion that regional pacts could be devised to strengthen the application of the Covenant. The British Government was resolved to negotiate such a pact for Western Europe.

RAW MATERIALS

Mr. Eden suggested that the question of raw materials was a matter for suitable discussion by the League. Britain was prepared to assist and steps should be taken in this direction by the Assembly.

On the subject of armaments, Mr. Eden said that Britain would persist in her rearmament until the nations reached limitation by agreement. Disarmament, to be real, must not only be military but mental, and not only weapons but war mentally must be laid aside. Britain could have no part lot or be at a standstill in armaments which gave permanent advantage to the nations which had gone in for most intensive arming of their power.

Mr. Eden, concluding, appealed to the Assembly to make its efforts towards establishment of international machinery to settle disputes without recourse to war.

ITALIANS ANNOYED WITH LEAGUE

TENSE FEELING AMONG THE PEOPLE

British Embassy Guarded By Police

("Hong Kong Daily Press" Special)

An atmosphere similar to that in the critical days of the Abyssinian war prevails in Italy as a result of the League of Nations recognition of the Abyssinian delegation. The feeling of the population is running high and a strong cordon of police surrounds the British Embassy constantly in order to prevent any protest demonstrations. It is hourly expected that a great national demonstration will be held in which Mussolini will speak. No decision has as yet been reached as to Italy's future in the League of Nations.

The "Giornale d'Italia" says that the decision of the League will only hasten the occupation of the whole country, so that Gore can no longer be advanced as a diplomatic objection.

FRANCE AND BRITAIN SHOULD STAND TOGETHER

DEFENCE AGAINST AGGRESSION

Winston Churchill's Views In Paris

London, September 25.

Mr. Winston Churchill in a speech in Paris yesterday on the inheritance of western democracies urged that France and Britain should stand shoulder to shoulder against aggression and faithfully bear their part in building up true collective security.

He refused to accept that the only choice was between two violent extremes. After all France and England were the chief architects of modern civilisation and the United States was the heir and champion of their ideas. Rather than submit to oppression there was no length they would not go.

INDIVIDUAL RIGHTS

"Our cause is good. Our rights are good. Let us make sure that our ideals are good. Let us make sure that our conduct is wise. Let us make sure that it is governed by forethought and statesmanship."

"Although we, French, English and Americans, have differences among ourselves and wrangle about our internal affairs, and although we are very much aware of the shortcomings of our civilisation and need of continual social betterment, we believe fervently that our institutions are such as to enable us to improve conditions and correct abuses steadily and to march every year and every decade forward upon a broader front into a better age."

"We will not surrender these title deeds of individual rights to morbid regimentation of a totalitarian state whether it be pressed upon us by force from without or by conspiracy from within."

NOT SO WEAK

"After all we are not so weak and helpless as some people make out. Of the British Fleet I can speak with particular assurance. It is certainly far stronger in relation to any fleet or combination of fleets in Europe than it was in 1914 and, by arrangements which are now being made by His Majesty's Government, its pre-eminence will certainly be fully maintained in future."

ITALY SHARES IN VOTE

But No Delegate Present

GENEVA POWERS AGREEMENT

Geneva, Sept. 24.

A short session of the League of Nations was held on Thursday afternoon, for the election of six vice-presidents. Of the 51 votes that any one state might receive, the votes were as follows:—France 49, England 47, Yugoslavia 44, Canada 39, Soviet Russia 35, Italy 32. That Italy is among the states chosen caused general surprise, and was taken as a vote of sympathy, especially as the Italian Delegation was not present. In reality the favourable ballot for Italy was the result of an agreement of all those powers that considered Wednesday's decision as precarious, but which nevertheless for one reason or the other had voted for it.

Diplomatic preparations have advanced so far that the general debate will begin on Friday morning, and the public session of the League Council on Friday afternoon.

At the assembly Capt. Anthony Eden will speak first and the Spanish Foreign Minister, del Vayo, after him. The proceedings are expected to be very lively, especially since some South American States intend to protest vehemently against Mexico's delivery of arms to the Spanish Government, and secondly because the same group contemplates a demonstration against del Vayo, who is expected to launch an attack against his opponents, accusing them of endangering the peace of Europe.

CIVIL SERVICE CRICKET CLUB

Members Urged To Discharge Debts

TREASURER'S COMMENT

The main proposal at the annual general meeting of the Civil Service Cricket Club held yesterday evening was made by the outgoing Hon. Treasurer, Mr. B. E. Maughan, amid hearty acclamation.

He said, "I recommend to the incoming committee that all Entrance Fees be set apart, first to be applied to liquidate the liability of the Building Loan, and then to form a Sinking Fund to provide for Wasting Assets."

In presenting this resolution, Mr. Maughan said that it was the duty of all members as citizens to discharge their debts.

Mr. P. D. Ordway welcomed the President, Mr. G. R. Sayer, to the chair.

After a report had been read by the Secretary, Mr. J. A. Boddall, Mr. Sayer said that the Hon. Treasurer had expressed his wish to attend the meeting, but due to unavoidable circumstances, he was detained. He hoped that they would have the pleasure of his Excellency's presence on the next occasion.

He deeply regretted the death of Mr. L. E. Longbottom as he took infinite care of the pavilion, and was a most valuable member of the Club.

They had lost two valued members in Mr. A. O. Brown and Mr. S. Alderman through retirement, but there was just as good fish as ever came out of the sea.

The whist drives of the past season were most successful, a sum of over $800 having been taken from that source, and now that the billiard tables were paid off, it was bringing in a moderate income.

It was a pleasant surprise to him to see the name of Mr. F. J. King at the top of the batting averages.

Congratulations were extended to Mr. J. R. Carr for the excellent condition in which he kept the grounds.

As for the accounts, the speaker was glad to say that they had another successful year. A profit of over $2,000 had been realized. Mr. Maughan, the Treasurer, said:—

A profit of $1,002 is revealed which may be considered satisfactory, but it must be observed that the income from Whist Drives and Billiards together with the net profit from the Bar Account has a very large bearing on the financial aspect of the year's working.

The income from the Bar Account is always a problematical according to Sales. Too much can not be expected from the Billiards, as to keep the table in first class condition "expenditure" will be necessary, but while those members who comprise the Whist Drive Committee show the same enthusiasm, this activity will continue to provide revenue.

Turning to the balance sheet, which shows the actual position of the Club at the end of the financial year, it will be observed that the profit has been added to our General Reserve.

At the same time, we are still faced with a liability to members of approximately $1,100 in respect to the present Club House. I submit that efforts should be made to discharge this liability as early as possible.

A vote was put to the members to increase the Library Fees to 25 cents, which was vetoed.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The following officers were elected:—

Patron: H. E. Sir Andrew Caldecott; President: Mr. G. R. Sayer; Vice-Presidents: Hon. Mr. R. M. Henderson, Mr. E. W. Hammon, and Mr. E. B. Reed.

A large crowd at the Y.M.C.A. pool yesterday afternoon witnessed exhibition given by the Japanese Olympic women swimmers.

In the 100 yards freestyle, Miss V. Thirlwell swam for Hong Kong. The Japanese swimmers were Misses K. Kojima, S. Matsumura and T. Furuta. Miss Kojima won by a touch.

Miss Leung Wing-han could not keep up the pace which the Japanese set in the 100 yards backstroke. Miss H. Morikawa won this event.

Great disappointment was felt by the crowd when the diving was cancelled on account of the bath being too shallow. Two dives given by the Japanese brought forth much applause.

Miss H. Maehata delighted with an exhibition breaststroke swim over 150 yards. She is the holder of the world record for the breaststroke event.

The 200 yards relay between the Olympic team and Hong Kong was the centre of attraction. Hong Kong lost by nearly a length.

At the conclusion of the exhibition Mr. R. Goldman, thanked the Japanese swimmers for turning out to show the Colony what they could do and also thanked the Japanese community for their support which added to the success of the occasion.

LOCAL RUGBY

Club Already In Training

The Rugby Section of the Hong Kong Football Club has already commenced training for the forthcoming season. The first Trial Game will be played on Monday, September 28th, at 5.15 p.m. There will be further trial on Wednesday, October 7th and 14th, both commencing at 5.10 p.m. All games will be played on the Club Ground at Happy Valley.

All players are requested to make a special effort to be present on these dates and besides their boots to bring along both a white and a coloured shirt. Sides will be selected from the following:—

Whites:—G. S. Wilson, Chadwick, D. A. Hynes, Ridwell, Grive, van Leeuwen, Lammer, Butcher, Bonnar, F. C. B. Black, Russell, Chambers, Clark, Stoker, R. P. Edwards, Garrod, Redman, Paul, Munro, Smalley, Cox, Curtis.

Colours:—Frost, Hopkins, Kistner, Gallagher, Griffiths, Reid, Stewart, Hutchison, Henderson, Humphreys, Peers, Dunnatt, Walkden, Bradford, Watson, Corrin, Schmaebel, Cumming, Andrews, Sharp, P. B. Wilson, Hands, B. Hynes, R. Edwards, Scott.

Everybody who turns out, even if their name is not included in the above sides, is assured of a game and any new players who wish to join will be welcomed and arrangements made to include them in the trial matches.

HOUSE IN DISORDER

Alleged Robbery At Home Of Arsenal's Manager

Manager of the Arsenal Football Club, Mr. George Allison appeared in a different role at Wealdstone. He was a witness in the police-court against George Alfred Stapleton, 40, of Mount Viewcourt, Green Lanes, Harringay, who was charged with breaking into Mr. Allison's house in Prince's Park-avenue, Golders Green, N.W., and stealing property.

Mr. Allison related that he returned from holiday recently and found that his house had been broken into and left in disorder. Doors, wardrobes, and drawers had been forced open, and jewelry worth $180 was missing.

He added that he had employed Stapleton as a golf caddy for three or four years.

Accused, pending trial at Middlesex Quarter Sessions.

Hon. Auditors: W. J. Burling and J. W. Cook.

Messrs. F. J. Ling, S. Alderman, A. O. Brown and C. J. Tacchi were elected life members.

A change was made in the annual report due to a printing error. Messrs. J. Agafuroff and J. Bullock won the men's doubles tennis championship instead of Messrs. J. Furo and N. Bebbington.

COMMENT ON CLUB TENNIS TOURNAMENTS

Annual Meeting Of Kowloon C.C.

FINANCIAL POSITION SATISFACTORY

For the fourteenth year in succession, a record in the annals of the Club, Mr. R. E. Lindsell and Mr. Ezra Abraham, were unanimously elected President and Vice-President respectively, at the annual general meeting of the Kowloon Cricket Club held yesterday.

Much comment was raised on the question of tennis, and it was pointed out that the Club, having tennis players of some quality, did not cater to these potentialities.

Satisfaction was expressed at the state of the financial standing of the Club. Though a loss of a few hundred dollars was shown, it was nevertheless an improvement on the figures for the previous year.

In the absence of Mr. R. E. Lindsell (the President), Mr. Ezra Abraham presided.

CHAIRMAN'S SPEECH

Presenting the Report and Accounts, Mr. Ezra Abraham said in part:—

The Club's activities have been well maintained in all directions and our senior cricket team distinguished itself once again in winning the League Championship.

As to League tennis, we were fairly successful with our senior teams only. I personally think it was a mistake to have entered so many teams in the League.

We deeply regret the death in Bombay, of our old friend Mr. F. P. Shroff.

WORKING LOSS DECREASED

The Income and Expenditure Account shows a loss on working of $218.72 as against $1,360.61 last year. This is after writing off $5,822.32 depreciation on the Club house, billiard tables, fittings and gear. Entrance fees amounting to $1,150.00 have been credited direct to the reserve account, which in actual fact shows an increase of $91.28 over last year.

ECONOMY POLICY

During the year, your Committee, pursued a policy of economy in all directions and the result is a reduction of $1,701.01 in overhead expenses.

Subscriptions for the year are down, despite the fact that our total membership (including 24 Lady Subscribers) is up. The profit on Bar sales has increased.

DEBENTURES REDUCED

The Club should, as far as possible, continue to redeem its Debentures, as each Debenture redeemed means a saving of interest. In conclusion I wish to say that your Committee is satisfied with the present state of the Club's financial affairs.

The out-going Committee has made a recommendation to the incoming Committee to look into the question of building a new bowling green and tennis courts on the top ground when funds permit.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS

The following officers were elected for the year:—President, Mr. R. E. Lindsell; Vice-President, Mr. Ezra Abraham; Captain of Cricket, Mr. F. Goodwin; Hon. Secretary, Mr. V. C. Labrum; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. F. G. Maunder; Bowls Convener, Mr. L. Jack; Vice-Captain, Mr. E. C. Fincher; Tennis Representative, Mr. A. W. Ramsey; General Committee, Messrs. W. W. Hirst, W. L. Mackenzie, A. W. Ramsey, A. A. Dand, F. E. Nash, C. J. Tacchi, F. W. Shaftain, A. Nisim and J. M. Jack.

Honorarys for the Hon. Secretary, Bar Convener and Treasurer were next approved. Messrs. Lowe, Bingham and Mathis were re-elected auditors for the year.

A proposal for the inception of Badminton in the Club was also passed on to the incoming committee.

HOCKEY MATCH

The following have been selected to represent the Nomads in a friendly hockey match against the H.K.S.F.A., at the Marina ground to-day commencing at 5 p.m., sharp:—F. G. Barros, R. J. Reed, A. Azedo, J. Marques, A. Xavier, S. Souza, R. M. da Silva, G. Soares, S. A. Reed, R. C. Reed and J. H. Franco.

Mr. Sayer, concluded the meeting by proposing a vote of $50 for the Children's playground. The proposal was approved.

PHILIPPINE MINING NEWS

Taking advantage of the presence of many legislators in Baguio for the first commencement exercises of the Philippine Army Service School, the Chamber of Mines has invited the visitors to inspect any or all of the mining plants in this district.

Leaders in the industry arrived in Baguio recently to see that the assemblymen have every opportunity to look over mine operations from start to finish. No definite tours have been planned, but each legislator will be personally escorted to any plant he wishes to see, so far as time permits. Guides will be furnished by the various companies, and the technical processes will be explained.

DINNERS PLANNED
In addition to looking over the mines themselves, the legislators will be royally entertained by the Chamber.

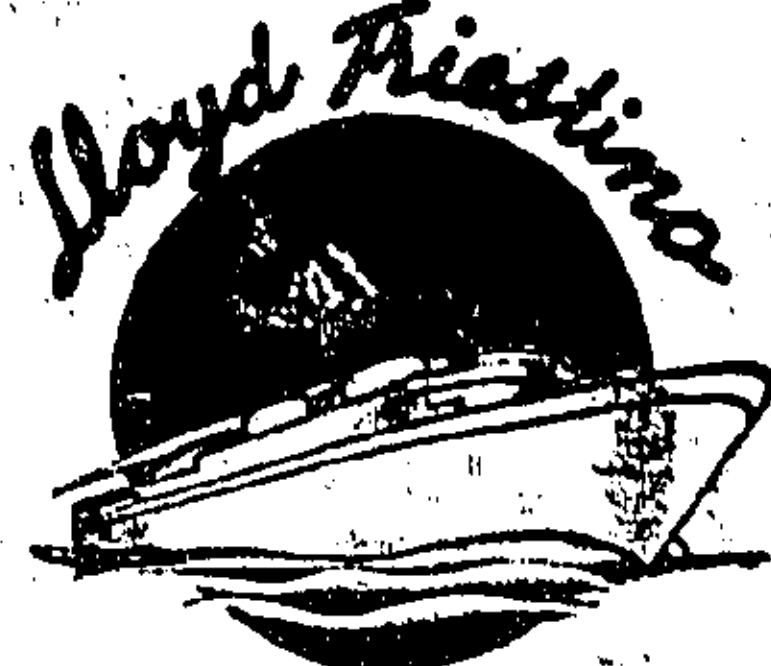

President Quezon himself heads the governmental party, which includes the leaders in the Commonwealth as well as those who are engaged directly in the framing of the new mining law for presentation to the legislative body.

MINING LEADERS

Among the mining men are J. H. Marman, vice-president of the Chamber of Mines; A. F. Dugley, representative of Judge John W. Hauserman, its president; W. Harris, P. A. Meyer, J. H. Sampson, A. W. Halston and many others.

Mining legislation will probably be brought before the assembly at an early date, and it is generally felt that by giving the law-makers every opportunity to see how a mine plant is operated, they will be better able to understand the various points which will be brought up.

FRENCH BANK RATE INCREASE

London Reactions

London, Sept. 24.
"It is like applying a poultice to a volcano," remarked a financial humorist when questioned by Reuters on the increase of the French bank rate to-day.
This summarizes the City's reaction to the Bank of France's attempt to ward off the inevitable by raising the rate to five per cent.

To-day's bank returns show a further shrinkage of gold by £10,000,000 and illustrates the impossibility of France's efforts to blend an inflationary internal policy with rigid adherence to the present gold parity.
Foreign exchanges, therefore, while slightly favouring the franc at the close following late announcements, continue to show an extremely weak undertone for the currency. This is accentuated by the failure of the proceeds of the "Baby Bonds" to wipe off the provisional advances to the State, which, according to to-day's bank returns, have been further swollen by £15,180,000 to £189,000,000, while "Baby Bonds" have yielded only £53,000,000.
